DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- A. Claims 1-16, 33-57 are drawn to an apparatus/kit, classified in class 606, subclass 69.
- B. Claims 19-32 are drawn to a method, classified in class 606, subclass 64.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions A and B are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the method as claimed could be used with another different apparatus, such as a set screw for a fastener, or a metal clip for a resilient retention member. In the event that the applicants choose to elect group A, further restrictions apply below.

- I. Claims 1-18, drawn to a fastener retention system, classified in class 606, subclass 72.
- II. Claims 33-42, drawn to a plate system, classified in class 606, subclass 69.
- III. Claims 43-57, drawn to a system, classified in class 606, subclass 60.

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention of a fastener retention system has separate utility such as its use in securing a femoral fracture, while the plate could be used to secure vertebrae. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the fastener and retention member do not require to be fitted with three separate diameter (i.e. first, middle, or distal end), or a retention member positioned between a surface diameter or intermediate diameter. The subcombination has separate utility such as a screw for securing a femoral fracture.

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, the plate system has separate utility such as its use to support a tibial fracture. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 3733

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Plate species (select one):

A) Figs. 1-4, 8

B) Fig. 9

C) Fig. 10

D) Figs. 21-22

Screw species (select one):

A1) Fig. 5

A2) Fig. 7

A3) Figs. 11 and 16

A4) Fig. 20

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to James L. Swiger whose telephone number is 571-272-5557. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday through Friday, 8:30am to 5pm.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Eduardo Robert can be reached on 571-272-4719. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
